

Twixmas 2011 – Daisy's finale voyage...

One of the drawbacks with being a musician is that November and December turn into absolutely CRAZY times! It was this, and the fact that Daisy was having a new water pump fitted, that following our October jolly, we weren't able to get out again until in between Xmas and New Year. We didn't know it at the time, but this was to become our finale voyage in dear old Daisy, as unbeknownst to us (until a particularly large amount of rain one afternoon) we discovered the thing that most motorhomers fear.... the Twixmas 2011 – Daisy's finale voyage...

DREADED LEAK! :'(We were staying on a nice little site just outside of Cromer, Norfolk , with my Dad and Jen, and we started noticing the tell tale signs. We tried to justify it, saying it was condensation at first, but as time went on, and the walls got softer and softer, we soon realised we were dealing with the real macoy – a proper Talbot renowned leak. Still, we managed to grin and bear it, and had a lovely time. The site was lovely – <http://www.moorlandpark.co.uk/> and we had a great walk all the way to Sheringham for fish and chips and a pint, then shared a taxi back. ☐

Share this:

- Share on X \(Opens in new win-

Twixmas 2011 – Daisy's finale voyage...

dow) X

- Share on Facebook (Opens in new window) Facebook
- Share on Pinterest (Opens in new window) Pinterest
- Share on WhatsApp (Opens in new window) WhatsApp
- Email a link to a friend (Opens in new window) Email